A very helpful way to read Scripture is to ask questions of the text. Two simple questions to ask either of a verse, a passage or a whole day's reading are: 1) "What do I find out about God here?", and 2) "What do I find out about His will for me (or mankind in general)?" To add another layer of depth to your reading, you could ask a 3rd question: 3) "What might today's reading have to do with the God's grand narrative for mankind? How does it contribute to the arc of the Bible's storyline? Does this reading point me to Jesus in any way?"
